Building Bridges Between Crisis Services and the Communities They Serve

THE CRISIS INTERVENTION ASSOCIATION OF PA
April 10 & 11, 2024

Seven Springs Mountain Resort, Seven Springs, PA
Reception featuring Scott Blasey from The Clarks

Program Description

Over the past decade we have all witnessed significant changes in our health, economy, politics, social justice and challenges just getting through our daily lives. Crisis services have increasingly been asked to respond to a myriad of new challenges in how individuals relate to themselves and others. Communities are being wracked by violent events and it seems that traumatic situations are occurring in the news daily. Trauma contributes to responses such as isolation, anxiety, and substance abuse. As a result of these traumas, crisis workers, first responders, law enforcement and service related providers are charged with working with the trauma-exposed individuals and communities, this often takes a great toll on those responding.

Objectives

- Address special areas of interest including: trauma informed care, traumatic events, community safety and crisis skill building;
- Identify crisis intervention strategies for working with specific populations;
- Discuss methods and techniques that crisis workers can use in assessing and responding to crisis situations;
- Develop an understanding of the frustrations of those struggling to overcome the effects of mental health stigma.

Keynote Presenters

The United States Secret Service

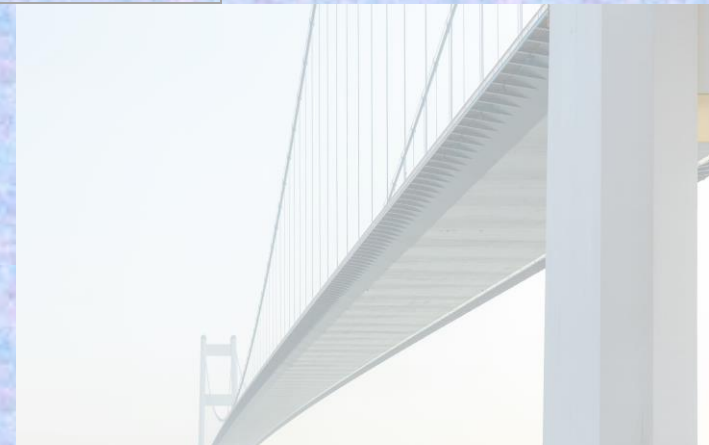

The National Threat Assessment Center will discuss important findings from our research on mass attacks perpetrated in public and semi-public spaces, including businesses, restaurants, bars, retail outlets, houses of worship, schools, open spaces and more. This training will provide guidance on how communities may develop or improve existing violence prevention programs utilizing a behavioral threat assessment model.
